Dear Parents/Guardians,

English Language Programme - Little Red Dot Subscription for P4 to P6 Students

To nurture reading habits that include both fiction and non-fiction text types, the English Language Department is pleased to continue with the Little Red Dot (LRD) subscription for our Upper Primary students as part of our reading programme.

LRD is The Straits Times' educational supplement for primary school students. The publication focuses on English Language learning, news and current events, as well as Character and Citizenship Education.

Objectives of Programme:

- To expose students to newspapers as a form of text type as well as current affairs.
- To tap on stories from the newspaper to serve as catalysts for discussions to help develop students' critical thinking skills.
- To promote social consciousness and encourage students to form their own opinions.
